ACE (Angelina College Explorer) is the primary entry point for the researcher into hundreds of thousands of articles, chapters, reference entries, audio clips, images, visual media and even books.

ACE can literally provide millions of “hits” on a topic, so be sure to narrow the results by using any number of limiters, such as:

- multiple search terms
- unique search terms
- proper names where known
- by date — recency
- scholarly resources only
- subject headings
- a particular database
- natural language

Supplementary Databases:
CQ Researcher — treatment of controversial issues; also a good place to find and/or narrow topics
Ebook Central — Over 40,000 ebooks, all subjects
Issues & Controversies — Explores “hot topics”
Films on Demand — liberal arts streaming videos
Koha (OPAC) - catalog of titles in the library with enhanced records
Learning Express — career center, job search, college prep, exams, work keys, interactive career practice tests, interactive skill-building courses, GED, SAT, GRE, math, reading, writing
NewsBank —
Newspaper Source — select articles plus TV & radio
Oxford English Dictionary— the zenith of English dictionaries
